WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION,

BY THE GOVERNOR.

Since the early days of the Republic it has been the grateful pleasure and custom of the people to assemble once a year, and by thanksgiving, praise and feasting, render unto the Giver of All Good a sincere expression of gratitude for His unfailing care and goodness.

Now, therefore, I, William D. Hoard, governor of the state of Wisconsin, in conformity with this most fitting custom and the proclamation of the president of the United States, do appoint Thursday, November 28th, 1889, as a day of thanksgiving.

I furthermore recommend that on that day the people of Wisconsin abstain from all labor and give thanks to Almighty God, by appropriate exercises in their places of worship and their homes, for the abundant mercies which we have received at His hands in the past year.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in [Great Seal] Madison, this 7th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

WILLIAM D. HOARD

By the Governor:
ERNST G. TIMME, Secretary of State.

THE SPIRIT OF TWO MEN.

A short time ago there was held in Syracuse, New York, a convention of carriage builders, and at the banquet several speeches were made, two of which were especially noticeable on account of the wide difference in the spirit of the two men who delivered them. One was made by the Hon. Frank Hiscock, United States senator from New York; the other was spoken by Mr. G. H. Burrows, of Cincinnati, a mechanic and a manufacturer of carriages. Mr. Hiscock is a fine orator—a man of splendid presence. In his speech he said:—

The accumulation of wealth and intelligence is what every man—every one who is a man—should require as his aim and his purpose in life. I am one of those, sir, who believe in the accumulation of wealth. I am not a communist, and do not believe in scattering it. I believe that every man should achieve for himself all that he can in that direction.

There was a class of practical men present at the banquet, men who had worked themselves up to positions of honor by industry. The words of Mr. Hiscock—the politician—seemed to meet with no sympathetic response, for when he closed there was a dead silence, the whole bearing of the great audience seeming to condemn the selfish view of life taken by the orator.

Following Mr. Hiscock, was Mr. Burrows. Among the many good things he said were these:

The day may come, my friends, when what is in "Looking Backward" may be true. But never, never, shall we regulate industry, or social life, or anything that we have to do with on this mundane sphere, by beginning at the top and organizing it out of imperfect material; never, so long as in our schoolhouses boys are taught that the whole end of life is to get, and that all they are to subtract and divide for is to know how much money they can get; never, until man has learned that the duty of life is to serve; until every man knows and feels and acknowledges that he is here on this footstool for no other purpose than to see how much and how well he can serve his brother man.

When Mr. Burrows sat down there was loud and long-continued applause from all sides of the banquet hall. He had struck a popular chord. He represented a better life than the politician did. He represented a gospel that means the giving to help others, that means the profit-sharing between manufacturers and employes and that means bridging of the gulf between capital and labor. He spoke of a righteousness that must exist among the accumulators of wealth if there shall ever be a practical solution of labor problem.

It is pleasant to note that this country has a large number of men who rebuke the politician—Mr. Hiscock. Peter Cooper was one of them. His wealth has blest thousands of poor young men and women. Issaac Williamson has scattered five millions for poor young men. Dr. Pearson, of Chicago, has scattered over a quarter of a million during the present year. His giving is a cold rebuke to the selfishness of the life which Mr. Hiscock would have money getters live. John Crerar, of Chicago, has scattered over two millions of dollars that it might be a kindly benediction to others.

The highest progress this country can make is in the line marked out by Mr. Burrows in his Syracuse address.

A DEMOCRATIC PAPER ON SUGAR

The New York World, which is democratic, which means a free trader, prints a long article on sugar and protection in which it says:

The ideal of a protected industry has been attained by the forty-nine refineries. What the republican prays that every industry may become, the sugar industry is. When he describes the ideally perfect industry it is one that—

1. Has no competition from abroad.
2. That has absolute control of the market.
3. That produces more than the people can use.

This exactly describes the sugar industry. It has no competition from abroad. It makes every pound of sugar eaten in the country. Not a pound of sugar is imported from abroad (except as a curiosity for exhibition). It has had absolute and undisputed control of the market for twenty years past. It produces more than we can use in the United States and sells its surplus in foreign countries in open competition with the product of Cuba.

It is the only protected industry in the United States which has attained the karma of protection, the perfection of economic holiness imagined by republicans.

It is a very strange thing that the New York World consents to the appearance of statements of that kind in its columns. The World knows as well as any intelligent person, that the United States does not produce hardly one-tenth of the sugar consumed in this country.

The amount of sugar consumed in the United States in 1886 was 1 195,466 tons of 2 240 pounds each; and the amount imported into this country during the same year was 1,060,348 tons. The production of sugar from cane in the United States for 1886 was only 145,968 hogsheads, and in 1887 245,000. It will be seen from these official figures taken from the treasury reports under Mr. Cleveland's administration, and which are correct, that there would be a sugar failure in this country if the people wholly depended upon domestic production for that article. Why, then, does the World insist on printing falsehoods in regard to sugar.

It may also be well to call the attention of the World to one thing, that the republican senate proposed to reduce the tariff on sugar one-half, but the democratic senators opposed the reduction.

SPEED OF INSECTS.

Enormous Velocity of the Winged Creatures.

A writer in the St. James Gazette says: "It has been computed that the common house fly in ordinary flight makes 600 strokes per second and advances twenty-five feet; but that rate of speed, if the insect be alarmed, may be increased six or seven fold, so that under certain circumstances it can outstrip the fleetest race horse. It is no uncommon thing to see a bee or wasp endeavoring to get in at a window of a railway train in full speed, and it is calculated that if a small insect can fly faster than a racehorse can run, an insect as large as a horse would be able to travel as fast as a cannon ball."

Leunwenholk relates an exciting chase which he beheld in a menagerie, about one hundred feet long, between a swallow and a dragon fly—among the swiftest of insects. The insect flew with incredible speed, and wheeled with such address that the swallow, in spite of its utmost efforts, completely failed to overtake and capture it. A pigeon fancier of Hamme, in Westphalia, recently made a wager that a dozen bees, liberated three miles from their hive, would reach it in better time than a dozen pigeons would reach their cote from the same distance. The competitors were given wing at Rhyhern, a village nearly a league from Hamme, and the first bee reached home a quarter of a minute in advance of the first pigeon. Three other bees reached the goal before the second pigeon, the main body of both detachments finishing almost simultaneously an instant or two later. The bees, it may be mentioned, had been handicapped in the race, having been rolled in flour before starting for purposes of identification. According to Chabrier, the male of the silkworm moth travels upward of one hundred miles in one day, and there are many of our British moths, as entomologists well know, which can cover long distances in an incredibly short space of time.

It is never too late to mend a sprained ankle, swollen limbs, stiff neck, or any pain or ache, if you but use that sovereign remedy, Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain. Price twenty-five cents.

"He is well paid that is well satisfied." This is what a happy man up town said when he threw away his empty bottle after he had cured his cold with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the favorite.

JEFFERSON DAVIS VERY WEAK.

Free from the Fever, but by No Means Out of Danger Yet.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 20.—Mr. Davis passed a comfortable day, his temperature being a little above normal. The physicians imperatively enjoin quiet, in which case it is hoped the fever will not return. Mrs. Davis still remains by her husband's bedside full of hope and confidence. She knows more than the doctors about his ailments and idiosyncrasies. Many have called, but all are rigidly excluded from the sick room. Mr. Davis is still extremely weak.

Declared Them to Be the Benders.

OSWEGO, Kan., Nov. 20.—The preliminary examination of the two women brought here from Michigan, supposed to be the notorious Benders, has ended. The court found them guilty as charged and held them without bail until the February term of court.

Rome Will Not Raise the Ban.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 20.—Mgr. Satolli, the papal delegate, arrived here to-day and confirms the statement made by Archbishop Fabre that Rome would not raise the ban against the Freemasons and other secret associations.

SIMPLY PERFECT.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Over and Route," has equipped its trains with dining cars of the latest pattern, and on and after August 18th the patrons of its fast trains between Council Bluffs and Denver, and between Council Bluffs and Portland, Ore., will be provided with delicious meals, the best the market affords pefectly served, at 75 cents each. Pullman's Palace Car Co. will have charge of the service on these cars.

Dangers in Celluloid.

A curious accident which happened recently in Paris points out a possible danger in the wearing of combs and bracelets of celluloid. A little girl sat down before the fire to prepare her lessons. Her hair was kept back by a semi-circle comb of celluloid. As her head was bent forward to the fire this became warm, and suddenly burst into flames. The child's hair was partly burned off and the skin of the head was so injured that several months after, though the burn was healed, the cicatrix formed a white patch on which no hair would grow. The burning point of celluloid is about 180°, and the comb worn by the girl had attained that heat as it was held before the fire.

German Names Wanted.

The managers of the Berlin cafes-concerts have offered a prize of 300 marks to whoever shall find purely German names for the following commonly used foreign words: "Specialitaet, program, phantasie, equilibrist, akrobat, gymnastiker, eccentrics, knock-abouts, trick, jougleur, agostesk-eccentric."

ON TOTTERING THRONES.

OMINOUS MUTTERINGS IN PORTUGAL AND SPAIN.

Fears that They Will Follow the Example of Brazil—Fighting Reported at Rio--Dom Pedro's Farewell.

LISBON, Nov. 20.—The Portuguese Republicans are greatly elated at the success of the Republican coup d'etat in Brazil, and there are mutterings of distant thunder which are beginning to confirm the belief already expressed that something of the same nature may be attempted in this country. Portugal is about ready for a revolution, and singularly enough, the conditions for it are similar to those which have exploded in the South American empire. It is not possible, however, that the establishment of a Republican form of government could be effected so quietly and suddenly in this small and thickly populated country, and considerable fear exists that a bloody scene may be enacted if the Republicans make up their minds to try to imitate the revolutionists of Brazil.

The court is seriously alarmed and the Cabinet is much perplexed at the approaching arrival of Dom Pedro and his family. It is impossible to tell what effect it may have upon the country, although the fact that the refugees are amply provided for by the civil list of Brazil removes one cause of irritation which would have been sure to excite the Republicans. It is not clear what can be done in this dilemma, and whatever is done is pretty certain to be objected to by the hostile agitators.

The Portuguese army is in nearly the same state of mind as the Brazilian army, and is more or less ready to forswear allegiance to the King and set up its own presidency and ministry. There have been noticeable of late frequent signs of insubordination, and similar evidences of a restless desire to overturn the existing regime have been observable in political circles of Spain among the Spanish Republicans.

That this sort of thing will sooner or later come to a head in Portugal no one here seems to doubt, and the impetus which has been given to the growing discontent by the Brazilian revolution makes the danger to the present government imminent.

Will Spain Follow Suit?

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Emilo Castelar left Paris last evening for Madrid. Politicians think they see in Castelar's departure an indication that the agitation in Spain is assuming an interesting form. Some even declare a belief that Spain will soon be the scene of another republican revolt.

REPORTED FIGHTING IN BRAZIL.

Rumors of an Attempt to Restore Dom Pedro.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The Figaro says that merchants in Hamburg have received dispatches from Rio Janeiro stating that a movement has been started in that city for the restoration of Dom Pedro, and that fighting has occurred in the streets between the Monarchists and Republicans.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—The republic has been declared in all the provinces.

Emperor Dom Pedro made the following reply to the communication of the new government informing him of his deposition:

"In view of the address handed me the 17th inst. at 3 o'clock p. m. I resolve to submit to the force of circumstances—leave with all my family for Europe to-morrow, leaving this beloved country, which I have tried to give firm testimony of my affectionate love and my dedication during nearly half century as Chief of the State. I will always have kindly remembrances of Brazil and hopes for its prosperity.

"D. PEDRO DE ALCANTARA."

To the Provisional Government.

NOTICE TO FOREIGN POWERS.

The Provisional Government of Brazil Sends Out a Circular.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 20.—The provisional government of Brazil has prepared and forwarded by cable to other governments an official circular announcing the deposing of the Emperor and the establishment of the republic. It generally recites the facts about the establishment of the new government as already outlined in press dispatches, stating that all contracts, treaties and agreements of the old government will be faithfully observed. It says that order prevails and will be maintained, and that all the provinces are a unit in support of the new state of affairs.

FLOODS ALONG THE ERIE.

Washouts at Several Places and All Trains Delayed.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Chemung river is very high and is still rising rapidly. A repetition of the June flood is feared. Merchants are moving their goods from basements and residents are taking up carpets and otherwise preparing for a siege. The Erie train due here at 9 a. m., is installed at Corning by a bad washout. The engine on the last train that arrived here from the east had to wade in the water to ascertain if the tracks were safe. All trains on the Erie and Lackawanna and Northern Central are abandoned. The water is four feet deep in the Erie depot at Waverly owing to the bursting of a reservoir, and the tracks are piled up with gravel. The Cowanesque valley is completely inundated, and at Addison, Corning and Lawrenceville the water is nearly as high as it was in June, and is still rising.

At Williamsport, Pa., the river overflowed its banks. All trains have been stopped, as a number of bridges have been swept away. The small streams of this section are all very high, and a large part of the city is flooded. The rain is apparently over.

Killed in a Railroad Wreck.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Nov. 19.—Report has reached here of a serious freight wreck in the Washita canyon on the Denver, Fort Worth & Texas railroad yesterday. A flange of one of the engine's driving-wheels broke and the engine and five cars were thrown from the track. Engineer Wilmarth and Brakeman Wiers were instantly killed. Fireman Elam was dangerously injured.

A Pennsylvania Mine on Fire.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 20.—The Sugar Notch mine of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company was fired today by an incendiary. The miners had a narrow escape when they attempted to enter the mine. The place is now being flooded and 500 men are idle. It is believed that enemies of the foreman set it on fire. Loss, $135,000.

Babes in a Holocaust.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—While Joseph Hodges and his wife, residing two miles from Archie, Mo., were visiting a neighbor last Saturday night, their house took fire, and before they could reach home the house was entirely consumed, and their two children, aged 6 and 8 years, were burned to death.

Two Cleveland Favorites of Fortune.

D. W. Gibbons, 497 Lorain street, held one-twentieth of ticket No. 39,526, which drew the second capital prize of $100,000 in the recent drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, Sept. 10. He is a maker of washers at the Upson nut and bolt works. C. A. File a young mechanic of 25 or 26, who lives on Dent street near Wade Park ave., and works at the Brush Electric works, near Wilson avenue, held one-twentieth of ticket No. 69,159, which drew the third capital prize of $50,000.—Cleveland (Ohio) Sun, Oct. 2.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Some Figures on the Cost of Running Our New Navy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Commodore Dewey, chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting of the Navy department, has made his annual report to Secretary Tracy. He asks for a considerable increase in the appropriation over the past year on account of new vessels. These vessels have a greater steamer capacity than the old ones, and thus the fuel bill has become greater. During the year the Dolphin used $35,000 worth of coal, and as it is proposed to keep twenty-five vessels in commission all the time the report estimates the cost of coal to be $873,000 per annum.

On June 30 last there were 8,147 enlisted men and apprentices in the navy. The report recommends a more rigid standard regarding the citizenship of those who enlist, and says that hereafter every man or boy who offers to enlist should be native born Americans or a naturalized American, or declare his intention to become a citizen.

THE MARINE CONFERENCE.

Three Important Amendments to the Navigation Rules Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—At the session of the international marine conference three important amendments were adopted. The first was on motion of the delegate from the Netherlands as follows:

In making any course authorized or required by these regulations a steamship under way shall indicate that course to any other ship which is in sight by the following signals on the whistle—namely, one short blast to mean "I am directing my course to starboard;" two short blasts to mean "I am directing my course to port;" three short blasts to mean "I am going full speed astern." The use of these signals is optional, but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made.

The second ammendment was on motion of the delegate from Great Britain, providing that in clear weather at sea no vessel shall attempt to cross the bows of the leaders of any squadron of three or more ships of war in regular formation nor unnecessarily pass through the lines of such squadron. The third requires all towing steamers to display an additional bright white light six feet above or below the regular lights.

TREASURER HUSTON SUSTAINED.

A Decision Against the United States Express Company.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Secretary Windom has sustained Treasurer Huston's claim that money sent by him to National banks and others in exchange for silver certificates or legal tender notes of large denominations and deposited with the subtreasurers is government money until it reaches the consignee and that under its contract the United States Express company must carry it at contract rates. This is regarded as an important decision and will affect the receipts of the express company considerably. Under this contract a package of money sent from the treasury to St. Paul or an equal distance would be charged but 15 cents, while under commercial rates the company would get $1.25 for the same service. The company declined to carry money at the former rates, thus raising the question which the Secretary has just decided.

FARWELL MEETS THE PRESIDENT.

The Illinois Office Question Thoroughly Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Senator Farwell has had a long seance with President Harrison, and it was a full and free conference about the Chicago offices, but though it lasted over an hour it was not conclusive, except in so far as the President said he would not appoint Col. Babcock United States marshal. Frank Hitchcock, of Peoria, was then put on the list of canaidates as the Senator's favorite, but the President has promised not to make the appointment until Congressman Payson was heard from again in favor of Robert Sherman of Kankakee, and Avery of Galena, is still a possibility. The collectorship was discussed but no conclusion reached. President Harrison, while still hesitating, seems to have been conciliatory toward Farwell for the Senator expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the conference. But there is to be another meeting within a few days.

The Brazilian Minister's Advices.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Dr. Valente, the Brazilian minister, has received the following telegrams by way of London:

The Brazilian bank of Rio telegraphs the Brazilian bank of London: "Provisional government appears to have inspired confidence. Perfect quiet reigns. Republic accepted by Rio and by the northern and southern provinces. Everything quiet. General opinion is that the republic is quite secure. Exchange is firm."

The Minister said that he thought that the Hamburg report of bloodshed was nonsense. These two telegrams were later in date and were direct contraditions of the report of fighting in the streets.

Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The President has appointed Alonzo J. Edgerton of South Dakota to be United States District Judge for the district of South Dakota; Willis Sweet of Idaho to be Associate Justice of the Supreme court of the Territory of Idaho; William B. Sterling of South Dakota to be attorney of the United States for the district of South Dakota.

Algiers Gets the Navy Yard.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The commission appointed by Secretary Whitney last January to select a site for a navy yard on the gulf, has made its report. The committee reports in favor of Algiers, opposite the lower end of New Orleans.

BUILDING UP THE ALIBIS

A DAY MOSTLY DEVOTED TO O'SULLIVAN.

His Employes Tell of His Movements on the Evening of the 4th of May —Other Testimony.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The lawyers for the defense were not in a pleasant state of mind when court opened Tuesday morning for the resumption of the Cronin murder trial.

The disastrous failure of their witness, Stifft, to establish an alibi for Dan Coughlin worried them. It was a bad blow to the theory of the defense, and they fully realized it.

The first witness was Redmond McDonald, a policeman of the East Chicago avenue station. McDonald testified that he went to Casey's funeral on the afternoon of May 4 in a buggy with Officer Richard McCormick. He said that he went on duty as a patrolman at 7 o'clock that evening. He remained on duty till 4 o'clock in the morning.

"Did you see Dan Coughlin that night?" asked Mr. Forrest.

"I did."

"Where did you see him?"

"I saw him go into the station."

"At what time?"

"About 8:45 or 9 o'clock."

"Are you a member of camp 20?"

"Yes, sir."

Cross-examined by Mr. Hynes:

"What's your number in Camp 20?"

"Seventy-two."

"That's pretty ancient membership, isn't it?"

Mr. Forrest objected and the court said: "I don't see what importance that has. It only shows that he joined early."

"It means that he was a member of Camp 96," said Mr. Longenecker.

McDonald could not remember whom he saw at the Casey funeral, where he went, nor what he did on the day of the funeral.

"How long did you stay at the church at mass?"

"I didn't go inside."

"You staid in the buggy?"

"Yes."

"Where did you go while mass was being said?"

"I don't remember."

"Wherever you went you staid in the buggy?"

"Yes, sir."

"Was Martin Burke at the funeral?"

"I didn't see him."

"Did you see Dan Coughlin at Garrity's saloon when you came back from the funeral?"

"I did not."

"Did you go to Dinan's Saturday night to ask if the rigs were all in?"

"I did not."

"Where was Coughlin when you saw him that night?"

"He was standing on the station steps. He seemed to have come from Clark street and took a few steps from that direction."

"Did you talk to him?"

"I said 'good evening' and he said the same."

"Was Coughlin apparently watching for anybody?"

"No. He was just standing there."

"You knew Scott was a member of Camp 20?"

"Yes."

"How did you know Coughlin was suspected of complicity in the case?"

"I read it in the papers."

"Was that before or after the body was found?"

"Before."

"Is it not a fact that there was not a word in the papers about Coughlin having hired a rig from Dinan till May 25, three days after the body was found?"

"I don't remember."

"Why did you tell Scott?"

"Because I heard of Coughlin being suspected, and I thought it ought to be known that I had seen him."

"Did you tell any one except Scott?"

"No, sir."

"Why?"

"Because I was a member of camp 20 and I did not want to get my name mixed up with the case."

"Butt Scott was in the same fix as you were. He was a member of Camp 20 and liable to be suspected himself. Didn't you tell your superior officers?"

"I told Lieuts. Kipley and Bolden."

"Didn't you say to them it was 8 o'clock when you saw Coughlin?"

"I don't remember."

"When did you tell the defense about it?"

"Last Saturday."

"Did you tell Capt. Schuettler that you did not know anything about Coughlin's movements when the captain called you into his office a few days after the body was found?"

"I did not."

Then a section of the defense of O'Sullivan was introduced. William Mulcahey, one of the iceman's employes, was called to the stand.

Mulcahey testified that he went to work for O'Sullivan about April 2. About a week or so after a man, whom O'Sullivan said was Detective Coughlin, came to the O'Sullivan house and spoke to O'Sullivan in the hearing of the witness. The stranger asked O'Sullivan if he was well acquainted in Lake View. O'Sullivan replied that he was. Then the stranger asked him if he knew John Kunze. O'Sullivan replied that he did. "Well," said the man, "if you see him tell him to call me up at the Chicago Avenue station—that I want to see him.

Mulcahey testified that O'Sullivan had told him to go see Dr. Cronin about a sore on his leg, as he, O'Sullivan, had a contract with the doctor to treat his employes.

Coming down to May 4, Mulcahey swore that he was with O'Sullivan peddling ice till late in the evening. Then he had supper and O'Sullivan was at the table. About 9 o'clock O'Sullivan went upstairs to bed, and soon afterward Mulcahey followed him. Some time later, about 10 o'clock, witness thought, he was awakened by hearing some of the workmen returning. O'Sullivan went down stairs to let them in. Later yet, Mrs. Whalen and her sister came into the room where O'Sullivan and witness slept to get a cot which was in that room. There was a light in the room. Mrs. Whalen spoke to O'Sullivan. O'Sullivan remained in the room all night.

"Do you remember getting any cards of O'Sullivan's in the last of April?"

"I did; I got about 100 and distributed them around the stores and saloons."

"Do you remember seeing O'Sullivan talking to old man Carlson?"

"I do."

"What was said?"

"Old man Carlson asked O'Sullivan if he knew any of those parties that had rented the cottage, and O'Sullivan replied that he did not know any of them."

On the cross-examination Mulcahey said that he had known O'Sullivan's brother in Iowa, and had a letter of introduction from this brother to the Lake View man. Mulcahey's memory was defective. He could not remember where he stopped when he came to Chicago, except that it was "near the Washington street tunnel."

He could not remember whether he registered his name at the hotel or not. Although Mulcahey occupied the same bed with O'Sullivan he could not tell what color the iceman's underwear was, nor what time he went to bed, nor what time he got up, nor what was done by O'Sullivan from the time they all had supper till they went to bed. In fact, except on the main points of the matter, the witness' memory was sadly defective.

"You put away the horses when you came in from delivering ice and locked the barn?"

"I did at about 7:30 o'clock."

"What did you do with the keys of the barn?"

"I hung them on a nail in the window-sill."

"Was there a brown horse there with a bald face?"

"There was such a horse, but I didn't take care of him."

"Where was this horse?"

"He was in a stall."

"Where was the top-buggy?"

"It was there, too—in the shed."

"Could O'Sullivan have gotten into that barn if he wanted to?"

"I don't know—I suppose he could."

The State's attorney took a turn with the witness as to the supper at O'Sullivan's house Sunday, May 5, at which the Hylands were present. Mulcahey had no recollection of any of the circumstances of that evening; could not recall who were at the table, whether O'Sullivan was there or not. He could not remember when O'Sullivan went to bed that night nor at what time they had supper.

"Can you swear that O'Sullivan was not out of the house Saturday night, May 4?"

"I can, unless when I was asleep,"

"Do you always wear your beard shaved off?"

"I do."

"How often did you get shaved last spring? Didn't you let your beard grow once two weeks about the last of April?"

"I can't remember. I usually get shaved every Friday."

"Did you get shaved on the last Friday in April last?"

"I can't remember."

"What is the State's attorney driving at? Does he think Mulcahey to be the man who drove the white horse?" the spectators asked one another. The suspicion was strengthened by subsequent questions.

"Did you go to see Dr. Cronin when O'Sullivan told you to?"

"I did not."

"You did not see Dr. Cronin on the 4th of May?"

"I did not."

"You're sure of that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you an overcoat?"

"I have."

"What kind of a coat is it?"

"A brown one."

"How high are you?"

"I don't know."

"What is your weight?"

"About 140."

At this point the witness got all tangled up, and O'Sullivan, the defendant, who was trembling with fear, arose to his feet and said: "Your honor, please——"

"But he was cut short by Donahoe and Forrest roaring out: "Sit down."

The iceman was so excited, however, that he again jumped to his feet, and Forrest caught him by the coat and chucked him down into his chair.

Just as the witness was leaving the stand Juror Culver asked him what kind of a coat he wore.

"A brown coat," Mulcahey replied.

Juror Culver (addressing the court)—May we examine the coat, your honor?

The coat was brought in and shown to the jury. It was a rough, brown chinchilla.

Saw O'Sullivan Go to Bed.

Thomas Whelan, a first cousin of P. O'Sullivan, was then sworn. He said that O'Sullivan had made his home with him for six years. Whelan is a gripman on the north side cable road. On Saturday evening, May 4, he returned home from work about 7:15 o'clock and O'Sullivan was there. They had supper between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. O'Sullivan sat next to witness at the table. About 9 o'clock Whelan saw O'Sullivan and Mulcahey go up stairs to bed. O'Sullivan was not out of the house that night. Three of O'Sullivan's icemen, "Bob" Boynton, James Minnehan and James Knight left the house about 8:15 or 8:30 o'clock. The witness did not hear them return. One night at the supper table Whelan heard O'Sullivan speak of the contract he had made with Dr. Cronin.

On Sunday evening, May 5, when Whelan returned home from work Patrick McGarry and the Hyland cousins were there. The Hylands remained until 10 o'clock, and O'Sullivan accompanied them to the street car.

Mr. Hynes cross-examined the witness. He said that he ate supper with O'Sullivan and the Hylands that Sunday evening, but he could not remember whether anybody else was at the table. When McGarry came to the house inquiring about Dr. Cronin's disappearance the witness "thought back," and he knew that O'Sullivan was home on Saturday night, May 4.

An Effort to Impeach Mrs. Conklin.

William Glenn, a newspaper reporter, was next examined by Attorney Forrest.

On Saturday, May 11, the witness called on Mrs. T. T. Conklin for an interview. She said that the horse Capt. Schaack brought there May 10 in no way resembled the horse that drove Dr. Cronin away. The horse that drove the doctor away, Mrs. Conklin said, was spirited, and the one that Capt. Schaack brought to her to identify was jaded and old.

Favorable to O'Sullivan.

Robert Boynton was then called. On the 4th of May he was boarding at Tom Whelan's. The witness has known O'Sullivan five years. He ate supper with the family on the 4th of May. O'Sullivan was present. After supper the witness and James Knight and James Minnehan went to a saloon where they played cards until about 10 o'clock. It was about 8:15 o'clock when they left the house. They passed the Carlson cottage on the way to the saloon and saw no light in it. On their return home they passed the cottage once more, but saw no light. O'Sullivan got out of bed and let them in. Shortly after their return home Mrs. Whelan and her sister, who had been shopping, were admitted by James Minnehan.

The witness said that on Sunday night, May 5, the Hyland cousins were at O'Sullivan's house. He saw the taller one of the cousins at the house two weeks later and he saw both of them at the house last Sunday night. He did not see the Hylands go away on Sunday night, May 5.

A "Fake" That Was Not Used.

Edwin Jones, a newspaper reporter, was then sworn. On the day after the discovery of the Carlson cottage he said that two other reporters and himself visited the famous house. On their way out they bought a small quantity of cotton batting and a liver. The liver was smeared on the cotton batting. They were going to have a "scoop." When they arrived at the cottage they found two officers guarding the rear door. They entered the basement and strewed the liver-stained cotton batting all over. Then they took out their note-books and jotted down something like this:

"Blood stained cotton batting in basement; blood on rafters; evidences of murder."

When they came out of the basement they went around to the front of the house and saw blood stains on the steps. They broke open the door and made a hasty examination of the hall, bedroom, and front room. The floor was painted, blood spots were here and there, and there were footprints on the floor, as though made in fresh paint.

The notes they had made in the cellar about the liver-stained cotton batting were torn up. They had a genuine sensation and were not obliged to use the "fake."

That is how the "bloodstained" cotton batting got into the basement of the Carlson cottage.

One More for the Iceman.

James Knight was the next witness. He knew James Hyland and P. O'Sullivan before he came here. On the 4th of last May the witness was driving an ice wagon for O'Sullivan. He got home about 6 o'clock in the evening. They had supper between 7:30 and 8 o'clock and O'Sullivan was there. After supper the witness and "Bob" Boynton and James Minnehan went to a saloon where they played cards until 10 o'clock. Upon their return home O'Sullivan admitted them. He had evidently got out of bed, because he only wore his underclothes. In going to the saloon they passed the Carlson cottage. They saw no light in it. When they passed the cottage again upon their return home there was no light burning inside. The witness heard O'Sullivan speak of a contract with Dr. Cronin at the supper table one night. On Sunday night, May 5, he saw the Hylands at O'Sullivan's house; about 10 o'clock he saw O'Sullivan and the Hylands leave.

The witness said he saw James Hyland at O'Sullivan's house two weeks later on a Sunday evening.

The Hylands at O'Sullivan's.

James Minnehan, another of O'Sullivan's icemen, was then called. He said that he got home about 6 o'clock May 4. After supper he went to a saloon with "Bob Boynton" and James Knight, where they played two or three games of cards. He heard O'Sullivan speak of a contract with Dr. Cronin previous to the 4th of May. In the latter part of April O'Sullivan sent the witness to a printing establishment in Lake View for some cards that the iceman had ordered. The job was not finished, but the foreman gave the witness 300 to 400 cards. He gave part of them to Mulcahey and Knight, and they distributed them all over Lake View.

On Sunday night, May 5, the witness saw the Hylands at O'Sullivan's house. He also saw Pat McGarry there. About 10 o'clock O'Sullivan left the house with the Hylands.

On cross-examination the witness said that he started to work for O'Sullivan about the 10th of April. He had known O'Sullivan about nine years.

"When did you next see the Hylands at O'Sullivan's house?"

"I saw both of them there Sunday night, May 12."

"You are sure about that?"

"Yes, sir; I'm positive."

The witness further said that he went to O'Sullivan's house last Sunday evening at the request of Attorney Donahue. They talked the case over among themselves and each man heard what the other was going to testify to. The Hylands were there and rehearsed their stories.

The Bloody Trunk.

Jacob Schnur, a trunk manufacturer, testified that he and Mr. Forrest visited the State's attorney office last week and saw the trunk found on the Evanston road May 5. The trunk was made in Mr. Schnur's factory and the style has been on the market for nine years. The lock and key were very common.

How the Alibi Was Arranged.

Patrick Brenan was the last witness of the day. He was working for P. O'Sullivan May 4. They had supper that night between 7 and 8 o'clock. The witness was not out of the house all the evening. He saw O'Sullivan and Mulcahey go to bed about 9 o'clock.

Cross-examination by Mr. Hynes:

"Where you at O'Sullivan's house last Sunday evening?"

"Yes, sir."

"Whom did you see there?"

"Mr. Donahoe and Mr. Forrest."

"Did you know that they were going to be there?"

"No, sir."

"You were surprised to find them there, were you not?"

"Yes."

"Who did you go there with?"

"James Minnehan."

The witness said that he went to Minnehan's room on Desplaines street last Sunday evening, and from there they went to O'Sullivan's. Nothing was said about the Cronin case on the way out. They were surprisdd to find the lawyers at O'Sullivan's house upon their arrival. Each witness told his story in the presence of the other.

Court then adjourned.

THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

A Plan Adopted by the Knights of Labor to Secure It.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—The Knights of Labor continued their discussion of the eight-hour law, and a letter from President Gompers of the American Federation on the same subject was read. He said the Federation did not wish to strike, but would do so if necessary. The convention found nothing in Gompers' letter with which they could co-operate. The change, the Knights think, must be brought about with as little disturbance as possible. The committee suggested a plan that all trades working ten hours or more should reduce the time of labor a half hour by March 30, 1890, and half an hour each year thereafter until the eight hour standard is reached. The proposition was adopted.

WORK OF FIENDS.

Attempted Wholesale Assassination of 400 People at Hurley, Wis.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Nov. 20.—Three dynamite cartridges were exploded under the Alcazar theater at Hurley, Wis., late last night. Fortunately the explosive was so placed that the building was but slightly damaged, and no one in the audience of 400 was killed.

The attempted wholesale assassination causes great excitement. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

"Skipped" with the Cash.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A sensation has been caused in business circles by the discovery that Charles J. Shogren, an employe of Fitkin & Brooks, had skipped wsth cash, drafts, and checks amounting to $4,050. Shogren is a young man who has always been considered a model. He was only in the employ of Fitkin & Brooks a few weeks, having formerly been employed by Sprague, Warner & Co. He is supposed to have gone to Canada.

His Ample Apology.

The street car turned a sharp corner, and the man who was holding on to the strap swayed heavily against the high silk hat pertaining to a man who was sitting down.

"Sir!" loudly exclaimed the indignant passenger, picking up his damaged tile from the dirty floor, "do you see what you have done by your beastly awkwardness?"

"I beg your pardon, sir," replied the offender with equal loudness, and in a tone of great surprise. "I didn't know you were sitting there. I supposed you had given your seat to that old lady standing up in front of you. Extremely sorry, sir—extremely sorry!"

Why He Didn't Mention it.

After the wedding ceremony a friend of the family took the father of the bride aside and whispered to him, "I observe that you do not seem to be aware that your son-in-law is over head and ears in debt."

"Are you sure?"

"Certain; and I am convinced he has only married your daughter with the object of paying off his creditors with the dowry."

"Why did you not mention this before?"

"He owes me five thousand reals."

An Awful Sore Limb

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in two months.

Cured by Cuticura

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief, whatever, I was persuaded to try your Cuticura Remedies, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Skin Disease 17 Years.

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore, and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case. L. R. McDOWELL, Jamesburg, N. J.

Another Marvelous Cure

The Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent, and Cuticura Soap have brought about a marvelous cure in the case of a skin disease on my little son eight years old. I have tried almost all remedies and also the most eminent doctors, all alike failing, except the wonderful Cuticura Remedies. ED. N. BROWN, 720, N. 16th St., Omaha, Neb.

SOME GOSPEL SINGERS.

POPULAR INTERPRETERS OF SACRED MUSIC.

Noted Authors of Widely-Sung Gospel Hymns—P. P. Bliss, William B. Bradbury, Ira D. Sankey, E. O. Excell, D. B Towner, Mrs. M. E. Wilson, and Others.

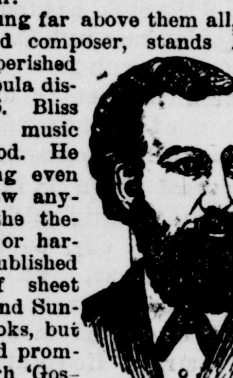

WESTERN PENNSYLvania, strange as it may seem," said a prominent musician the other day in the presence of a Chicago Times representative, "furnishes about all the writers of sacred music and also the prominent gospel singers."

Who are prominent ones?"

"Well, I should say Sankey as a singer ranked first among the living, though he is by no means the equal of P. P. Bliss; then comes E. O. Excell, Sam Jones' singer; James McGranahan, who is with Major Whitney in England; D. B. Towner, now traveling with Moody, and George C. Stebbins, associated with the Rev. Pentecost in gospel work in the East. As music writers McGranahan is entitled to first place, with Sankey a good second, then Stebbins, next Towner, with Excell bringing up the rear.

"But towering far above them all, both as a singer and composer, stands P. P. Bliss, who perished in the Ashtabula disaster in 1876. Bliss was full of music from boyhood. He began writing even before he knew anything about the theory of music or harmony. He published quantities of sheet music, class and Sunday school books, but he first gained prominence through 'Gospel Hymns and Sacred Songs.' This work attracted the attention of Mr. Moody who, in 1874, succeeded in interesting publishers in the book and induced its purchase of Mr. Bliss for $12,000. This sum Mr. Bliss declared sufficient to keep him and his family for life, and announced his intention of devoting his energies to gospel work. He associated himself with Maj. Whittle and continued with him until his death. His method of interpretation was equal to that of Mr. Sankey and similar in style. But his voice was vastly superior and his spiritual feeling very marked. His voice, which Dr. Root pronounced the finest in the world, was a wonderfully rich, clear, penetrating baritone, ranging from lower B flat to high A flat. Among his most popular songs are 'Almost Persuaded,' 'Hold the Fort,' and 'He Knows,' which was not published until after his death.

P. P. Bliss.

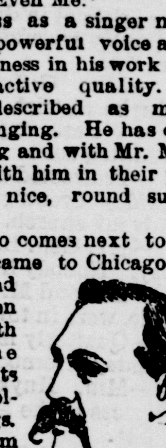

"To William B. Bradbury of Connecticut the church is indebted for originating the new class of gospel music. Bradbury was poor music-teacher who tramped about Connecticut on foot teaching singing-school wherever he could get the chance. At that time all church music was of the slow, severe, dignified order, such as the tunes of 'Dennis,' 'Duke Street,' 'Ariel,' etc. About 1835 Bradbury began writing a more animated type of devotional music. His efforts were received with marked favor from the beginning. He went to New York, where he founded the publishing house of Bradbury & Main, now Bigelow & Main. He died in 1864 possessed of a snug fortune. Some of his best known pieces are the music of 'Sweet Hour of Prayer.' 'He Leadeth Me,' and 'Even Me.'

Ira D. Sankey

"Sankey's success as a singer may be attributed to his powerful voice and his magnificent earnestness in his work rather than to any attractive quality. His method is better described as musical declamation than singing. He has done a great deal of writing and with Mr. Moody, who is associated with him in their publication, is making a nice, round sum off of 'Gospel Songs.'

"E. O. Excell, who comes next to Sankey as a singer, came to Chicago about eight years ago, and for half a dozen years struggled with poverty while he made fruitless efforts to introduce his collection of sacred songs. Two years ago Sam Jones chanced to hear of him, engaged him to sing for a week during his Chicago meetings, and was so pleased with him that he made the engagement permanent. Excell now draws a salary of $200 per month, and since then has realized $25,000 from the sale of his book.

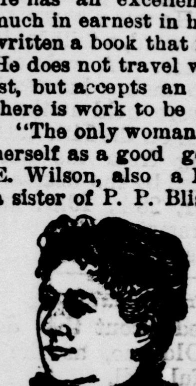

E O Excell

"D. B. Towner for the past two years has traveled with Mr. Moody. Though possessed of a good baritone voice he is far inferior to Mr. Sankey as an interpreter of gospel music. His "Hymns, New and Old," has reached a sale of several hundred thousand copies.

"A man who is destined to become prominent in his chosen line is Peter Billhorn, a Chicago blacksmith, who became converted at Mr. Moody's church. He has an excellent voice and is very much in earnest in his work. He has also written a book that is meeting with favor. He does not travel with any one evangelist, but accepts an engagement wherever there is work to be done in the vineyard.

"The only woman who has distinguished herself as a good gospel singer is Mrs. M. E. Wilson, also a Pennsylvanian. She is a sister of P. P. Bliss, and works with her husband, the Rev. Clark Wilson, in proclaiming the gospel throughout the East. She has a pure, sweet voice, and is most effective. She has written a number of successful hymns.

Mrs Mary E. Wilson

"One of the leading hymn writers of the country is Fannie J. Crosby of New York. Miss Crosby has been blind from birth and has a very peculiarly shaped head. Perhaps her best-known work is the words of 'Sweet Hour of Prayer.'"

Johns Hopkins.

The gifts obtained for Johns Hopkins university this year amount to $187,000, which will keep it running for the next three years, by which time it is hoped that its securities will yield dividends sufficient for its support.

RUSSIAN STUDENT LIFE.

Some of the Peculiarities of the Gymnasia of Russia.

Everything connected with the life and conduct of the Russian student is scientifically regulated by a system of rules and laws which must be obeyed and can not be violated with impunity. No student under 8 or over 18 is allowed to enter the gymnasium, nor can any student remain in the school after he is 21, since that is the age at which every Russian subject is liable to the military conscription. But if a student is 21 and is in the last class his studies are not interrupted; he is allowed to pass his "finals" and proceed to the university to continue the preparation for his career, at the end of which time he is liable to serve in the army only six months, a reduction to from six years to which he would have been liable had he not reached that grade of education.

In order to become a gymnazist, says a correspondent of the Boston Post, or student of the gymnasium, every boy must pass an examination. Even to be admitted to the preparatory class he must be able to read fluently, to know something of the rudiments of arithmetic, grammar, and orthography. In the first class he generally begins to study the Latin grammar, French or German (or both if he likes), history, and geography. This course continues till he enters the third class, when he begins to study Greek and must drop either one of the two modern languages; he begins algebra and drops orthography. In the fourth class he begins to read ancient history and takes up geometry and physics. This course continues till he enters the sixth, when he begins astronomy and trigonometry. On finishing in the eighth and last class he is subjected to a searching examination, on successfully passing which he is given his attesta zrelosty—literally, "attestation of ripeness"—which admits him to any of the Russian universities, where he can select his desired faculty.

The recitation of lessons is conducted much the same as in other countries; any student is liable to be called up by the professor and examined in lessons of the day. He is then given a mark to characterize his performance. At the end of every quarter a testimonial containing the sum total of his marks is given to each student. If his marks have been exceptionally good—say above 80 per cent—he receives a "laudatory list." At the end of the year there is a severe examination on all the subjects which have been studied during that time. If the student fails to receive at least 60 per cent of the marks on that examination he is dropped back into the same class for another trial. If at the end of two years he fails to pass the examination he is suspended from the gymnasium, and is practically expelled by a certain paragraph of the educational laws. But he can enter the same school at the end of the vacation by passing the necessary examination for the higher class. Besides these marks on the student's average knowledge of things in general there are two other subjects which have an important bearing on his fate. One is religious instruction and the other is conduct. A student may have an excellent record in every other other subject, but if he have a very bad total in "religious instruction" he is remorselessly left in the same class for another year, but woe to the student who is expelled for misconduct! He can never re-enter the gymnasium or any higher educational establishment, and his career is forever blighted.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west: is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors.

The Minneapolis and Chicago R. P. O. train men will do the work between Harvard and Chicago, and the work from Harvard to this city will be done by the men heretofore running from Fond du Lac to Milwaukee.

THE HAND EMBROIDERER.

In another column will be found a cut of the Hand Embroiderer that the Gazette offers as a premium. The little invention is very simple and works to perfection. Any lady can use it with a little practice, and the work produced is equal to the most careful hand work and ten times more rapid. Samples of the work may be seen either at the Gazette office or at the drug store of E. B. Heimstreet, directly opposite.

The Gazette wants a good lady canvasser in every town in the county. Liberal commission paid.

Rooms to rent on the first floor, with or without board. Enquire at the Gazette office.

FRANK PUNCHEON.

HE GOES TO JOLIET FOR A TERM OF FIVE YEARS.

Frank Puncheon, who was sent to Waupun from this city about four years ago, covering a term of two years, is again in trouble. Some time ago the Gazette mentioned the fact of his arrest in Chicago, and now comes the Chicago Inter Ocean, giving the following:

"Frank Puncheon, an old penitentiary bird, appeared in a new role before Judge Anthony yesterday. The indictment against him was for plain larceny, but the facts brought out in an investigation by the court developed a story bordering on romance. The complaining witness was Mrs. Emma Mobley, of No. 197 Erie street, a comely widow on the sunny side of 40.

"I answered an advertisement for a housekeeper," she said, "and at the room in a small hotel where the advertisement directed me found Mr. Puncheon, who said he wanted to have a lady go with him to Joliet as a housekeeper. He wanted me to go that night, but I could not get ready before the next day, and as he said he would wait for me he asked me to go to the theater with him that night. On the way he offered to carry my purse for me, and I let him take it. There was $29 in it. When he left me that night I said, "You will keep my purse, will you?" and he said he would. He did not come the next day, but I thought it was all right until some policeman next day asked me to go to the station to identify him. They had found my card in my purse.

"Puncheon, who is a prepossessing fellow, smiled at the effect of his smooth tongue and other fascinations on the widow, but looked more serious when the officers testified to his record and that he had been advertising extensively in the city papers for housekeepers, having answers from 130 women whom he undoubtedly hoped to swindle as successfully as he had Mrs. Mobley.

"Puncheon had been indicted under the habitual criminals act, but on his agreeing to plead guilty to the larceny that count was dropped. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary."

THE SLANGY EVANGELIST.

HOW HE WORKED THE SINNERS AND CAPTURED BACKSLIDERS.

"Yes," said the evangelist, after biting a large chew from a plug of black tobacco and expectorating with marvelous accuracy in the eye of a slumbering dog; "I've been getting there with both feet lately. The last town I stopped at I raked in twenty converts in one night, and you can bet that's big work. I got right down to 'em and let 'em know that it they don't waltz up to the mourners bench and get religion they'll be everlastingly in the soup, and I generally fetch 'em Of course there's always a lot of chumps you can't do anything with, but they don't count for nothing. I used to be a heavy-weight slugger, and I've had a book printed describing the scraps I've beeen into. When the services are over I sell books to the chaps what's been saved and make a little stuff that way, but there ain't no money in this preaching business. A feller's got to do it out of pure love for his fellow-men, just like I do it. I want to save as many as I can, and give the devil the grand razzel-dazzel, and all the reward I ask is to have a front seat in heaven when I turn up my toes. Well, I'll have to leave you. I'm going round to see a back-slider what was converted a week ago, and when I read the riot act to him you bet I'll snake him back into the fold. So long." The noble and self-sacrificing man then moved off on his grand mission humming a simple hymn the burden of which was to the effect that while the bedbug had no wings at all he gets there just the same. Truly, the world can never be plunged into utter darkness while such good men throw themselves earnestly into the work of salvation.—Lincoln Journal.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ROCK COUNTY ASSOCIATION AT BELOIT.

The twenty-first semi-annual meeting of the Rock County Sunday-school association is in session at the Baptist church. The exercises began yesterday morning, Prof. E. G. Smith, of Beloit, delivering the address of welcome and the Rev. W. J. Clark, of Milton, responding in behalf of the visitors. The secretary's report and general business occupied the morning session: In the afternoon the Rev. T. E. Barr, of the Presbyterian church, gave an address on "Liberalism in the Sunday school." There were also pleasant discussions, and the president, J. T. Wright, of Janesville, gave his report. The Rev. S. P. Wilder, of Janesville, spoke last evening on "Essential Truths—How to Reach and Teach Them;" Dr. M. G. Hodge, of Janesville, spoke on "Doctrinal Teachings in Sunday schools," and President Eaton also spoke briefly. There are a good number of delegates and the meetings are all of interest and profit. The exercises will close with the session of to-day.

MATRIMONIAL.

COURTNEY-NOLAN.

A few intimate friends of the contracting parties gathered at St. Patrick's church this morning to witness the marriage of Mr. Dennis Courtney and Miss Julia A. Folan, the Rev. E. M. McGinnity officiating. Miss Margaret Courtney, sister of the groom was bridesmaid, while Mr. Thos. Nolan, brother of the bride, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Courtney have the best wishes of a large circle of friends. May long life attend them.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

An Outline of What is Going On in Different Parts of the State.

Whitewater has the scarlet fever.

Ed. Doyle and James Dickson have been arrested in Minneapolis for a robbery at Eau Claire.

There are four murder cases on the criminal calendar of the circuit court of Portage county, at Stevens Point.

John Devine, a farmer of Webster's Prairie, Sauk county, aged over 70 years, fell dead while feeding his cattle Tuesday morning.

Duncan McMillan who settled in Beaver Dam in 1845, died Tuesday morning of rheumatism. He was about 80 years old.

The farm residence of Adam Theurer, near Baraboo, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. The family barely escaped. Loss $1,000; insurance, $600.

In a saloon free fight at Eau Claire, John Cassell bit the finger of Mrs. John Seliner, wife of the saloonkeeper, so badly that it was amputated. Cassell has been arrested for mayhem.

John Lightner, who accidentally shot and killed A. S. Burnes, his brother-in-law, at Warren, was discharged Tuesday on motion of District Attorney Connors, of Chippewa Falls, as it was clearly a case of accident.

Isaac Rosenberg, 16 years old, a peddler of stationery, was dragged under a freight train at Barton Tuesday noon and his right arm was crushed near the shoulder and had to be amputated. His parents reside at 610 Sixth street, Milwaukee.

Notices have been served on the butchers of Oshkosh to remove their slaughter houses outside the city limits before January 1, and that after that date no slaughtering must be done within the corporate limits of the city.

The case of A. P. Case, charged with adultery, tried in the circuit court at Racine on Tuesday, resulted in a verdict of guilty. Sentence has not yet been pronounced. Case's accuser is a girl only 14 years old, while he is at least 45.

Jonas Johnson, a farmer and logger, of Ogema, accidently shot himself Tuesday while out hunting. He was leaning on his rifle with the barrel pressed to the side, when it was discharged, the ball entering his side. He is not expected to live.

Preparation for the season in the pineries is well advanced. Loggers have had fine weather for starting, enabling them to remove all down trees, making roads and preparing for skidding those cut later. Many camps have large numbers of logs skidded. Men are flocking to the woods.

J. Cohen, who is selling watches and jewelry, had his sample case, containing over $1,000 worth of jewelry, stollen at Shore's camp, two miles from Washburn on Tuesday night. While he was eating supper, a man jumped up from the table in the camp and ran out the door with the case. This was the last seen of him.

Three dynamite cartridges were exploded under the Alcazar theater at Hurley Monday night. Fortunately the explosive was so placed that the building was but slightly damaged and no one in the audience of four hundred was killed. The attempted wholesale assination caused great excitement. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

George Sands, who was lodged in the Eau Claire jail in default of bail, to await trial for the burglary of a gun shop, is suspected of being a member of the gang that committed several recent robberies. Witnesses from Neillsville, Merrillan and Fairchild, where he sold knives and revolvers, fastened the gun shop burglary on him.

Thirty-two candidates took the civil service examination before Examiner F. M. Kiggins at Madison, on Tuesday. Twenty-two took the railway mail clerk examination; six the clerk examination, one the special pension examination and one the examination for post office inspector. Two ladies took copyist examination and one candidate also took the examination in law and German.

The loss to the German farmer, Lefavor, at Palmyra, by fire burning his barn, crops and live stock, is greater than at first reported. The fire consumed this year's crops, straw, hay, fodder and two head of stock, besides the barn and its contents. The amount of his loss is unknown. The premises were covered by a light insurance. The fire was either the work of tramps or children.

—A delegation of thirty members of St. Joseph's church, Racine, called upon Archbishop Heiss at Milwaukee Monday to urge the appointment of Father July in place of Father Foeckler, deceased. The archbishop informed them that the parish had already been supplied; that he had appointed the Rev. Father Seceler, of St. Francis seminary, to succeed Father Foeckler, who would take charge of the church this week.

William Wagner, a well-to-do farmer, residing just south of Ripon, met with a shocking accident at Oshkosh Tuesday. He was on his way to Oshkosh to visit relatives, and when the St. Paul train was passing the lake shore depot it is supposed that Wagner thought he was passing Oshkosh, as he attempted to alight. He slipped under the wheels and was terribly mangled. He still lives, but with no hope of recovery.

August Grams, a well-to-do German farmer, near Eau Claire, recently brought suit against his whilom friend, Theodore Voight, another farmer, for $8,000 damages, claimed because Voight had said Grams "hadn't got a dollar in the world," and thereby so prejudiced a widow against Grams that she would not marry him, the damages being estimated on the basis of the widow's wealth, which Grams expected to get. Voight settled the case by paying Grams $200 on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. August Schmidt, of the town of Milford, Jefferson county, are the parents of a speck of humanity, born to them Oct. 25, which is doubtless without a parallel in this state. It is a girl baby, fully developed, perfect in form, and weighing at birth just 16 ounces, or in other words, one pound. This wee specimen has grown and thrived, and yet at this time the little lady weighs scarcely two pounds. The little one has two sisters—one that weighed at birth 2½ pounds and the other 5 pounds, making the combined weight of the trio of sisters just 8½ pounds, hardly the weight of an ordinary infant.

Catarrh originates in scrofulous taint. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus permanently cures catarrh.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 31 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 47 degrees above zero. Cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 30 and 38 degrees above zero.

D. Conger's office is the place for bargains in houses, lots, farms and western land.

QUICK WORK.

JOHN BROWN TRIES TO PASS A FORGED NOTE AND GETS TWO YEARS AT WAUPUN.

Yesterday John Brown, a young man formerly in the employ of Nelson Bros., hired a rig of that firm and in company with a young lady of this city drove down to Clinton Junction. He drove up in front of the Citizens' Bank and sent the woman in after a blank promissory note: He then went over to Justice Frank Ames office and giving his name as Sommers represented that he had a brother who was working for Edward Chesebro. He claimed that his brother wanted to make a settlement with Mr. Chesebro, and said that he was going directly out there, and wanted Mr. Ames to fill out the note for the sum of one hundred dollars, saying that he would get Mr. Chesebro to sign it. Mr. Ames complied with his request, and "Sommers" departed. About two o'clock he appeared at the bank with the note signed by Edward Chesebro and his son, Edward Chesebro, Jr. Mr. A. Woodward, president of the bank, had transacted a great deal of business with Mr. Chesebro, and was familiar with his signature and pronounced the note a forgery. Brown represented that he resided near Beloit, and no such person could be found. Mr. Woodward began to investigate. He learned that the rig which Brown had belonged in the city, so he telegraphed Marshal Hogan, who began to look for Brown, who was finally discovered in a saloon and put under arrest. He spent the night in jail and this morning was taken before Judge Patterson charged with having had in his possession and endeavored to pass a forged and fraudulent promisory note. He plead guilty and Judge Patterson sentenced him to two year's confinement in state's prison at hard labor. Sheriff Babcock took him to Waupun at 1:20 this afternoon. He took his sentence hard and was a sorry looking man when a Gazette reporter saw him at the depot this afternoon. His face and eyes were red and swollen from weeping and with the handcuffs on his wrists he bid adieu to his native city. His crime was deliberately planned and his punishment is a just one.

A GOOD AGENCY.

The Gazette desires to state from personal experience that the Merchant Retail Commercial Agency is a first class collecting medium. Their system for collecting bad accounts possesses a winning feature that seems hard to resist. Every merchant in the city should become a member of the agency and avail themselves of a good opportunity to collect their bad accounts.

The information furnished by the Agency is invaluable to every business man and worth more than the membership fee.

—Died, at his home in Center, Nov. 12th, 1889, Mr. Ira Worthing, aged 73 years. Deceased had been a great sufferer for more than a year, and although at the last death was gladly welcomed as a release from pain, he was enabled by God's help to wait patiently his appointed time. He was a christian in every sense of the word, a faithful husband and loving father. A wife and three sons are left to mourn his death. Funeral services were held at the Disciple church in Center on the 14th inst. Elder Jenks preaching from the portion of scripture selected by the deceased, Mathew II chapter, 28th, 29th, and 30th verses. The remains were interred in the Center cemetery.

An Unfortunate Dog.

"I am worried about that dog," remarked Mr. Oldtime, as the canine uttered a doleful wail.

"So is George," remarked his daughter.

"Humph, George hasn't any cause for trouble. If it were not for George my mind would be at peace now."

"How is that, papa?"

"Why the other evening George was coming through the gate."

"Yes, papa"

"The dog sprang at him, caught him in the cheek——"

"Oh, papa!"

"And lost two front teeth."

Statesmen in Prospect.

"What a houseful of children you have, uncle," said a gentleman to an old negro, whose cabin swarmed with children of all ages and sizes.

"Yes, sah, yes, sah!" replied their father, proudly, "thirteen in all, sah; en not one too many. Couldn't spar' one. All boys but two, sah, en chances fo' de las' one ob 'em to git into Congress. Yes, sah! 'Taint many men has de chance ob bein' fader to 'leben Congressmen—no, sah!"

THE smallest ear of corn is the hardest to shuck.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.
